

Donaldson does dirt...

While Donaldson Filtration products are recognised as ideally suited to Africa's challenging environments, they really put their product through its paces in off-road motorsport...

Donaldson Filtration Systems has been associated with Nissan Motorsport's participation in the local off road championships for more than six years, for which Nissan has won the driver's and co-driver's championships, as well as the manufacturer's championships.

After enjoying a successful 2009 season with Nissan Motorsport, claiming 1st, 2nd and 3rd position in the off-road championships, Donaldson is now a partner for the ABSA National Off-Road Championships and naming rights sponsor of the 2010 prologue events.

Recently, the Media was invited to experience conditions that the average motorsport vehicle's filter goes through... [Difference is, WE only had our teeth through which to filter the dust!]
